STATE MATTERS.

AND Wilson too has had a frost.

Seed cotton sells in Elizabeth City at 40c.

The small-pox has entirely disappeared from Nashville.

HALIFAX TOWN is the largest voting precinct in Halifax county.

The female college at Asheville is in a flourishing condition.

The pea crop of Pitt has been seriously injured by the drought.

SEVENTY thousand bushels of wheat raised in Haywood county this year.

ONLY eleven persons have died in Wilson during the past twelve months.

WM. FLANAGAN, ex Sheriff and an influential citizen of Pitt county, is dead.

COL. T. S. KEENAN and Dr. R. W. King have been appointed sub-electors for Wilson county.

The corn crop in Cherokee county is the best ever known to "the oldest inhabitants."

THE Asheville Citizen says that the chestnut crop is better this year than ever known in that section.

REV. G. W. PHELPS has entered upon the pastoral duties as Rector of the Episcopal Church at Wilson.

SEVERAL "new arrivals" in the Asheville section have been named "Horace Greeley." They are all doing well.

THE next Legislature will be petitioned for a new county out of portions of Jackson, Macon and Transylvania counties.

THE mill at Old Fort, belonging to Col. Davidson, was destroyed by fire last Saturday night. Loss about $5,000.

THERE will be a coronation ball at Weldon on the evening of the 1st of November, the closing day of the Weldon Fair.

MISS Kate Bonner was united in marriage to Prof. A. J. Ellington, of the Rocky Mount College, at Rocky Mount, on the 1st inst.

THE Raleigh News tells of goat meat being sold in Enfield for venison. It was of the tough order, which caused the joke to talk out.

THE old town of Halifax is improving rapidly. The new brick hotel is going up and several other buildings are under hand.

THE Raleigh News tells of a young man in the Ringwood section who has been guilty of the inexcusable blunder of courting the wrong lady.

CAPT. H. J. CARROWAY, of Wayne, and Miss Sue L. Simmons, of Halifax, were married on Wednesday night last. The happy couple are touring the North.

A STRANGER homeless and friendless, died at Weldon on Wednesday night. Letters upon his person gave his name as Joseph Stafford, of Scranton, Penna.

A MASS meeting is to be held at Alexandria on the 17th inst., and among the speakers expected are the Hon. W. A. Graham, Hon. Matt W. Ransom, and Ex. Gov. Vance.

THE contract for the Turnpike from Littleton to Ransom's Bridge has been given to Mr. Thomas Harris, who will commence work upon it at once. So we learn from the Weldon News.

WE L. L. COOK, an energetic young man of Nash county, died at the residence of T. P. Braswell, in that county on the 2nd inst. The Battleboro Advertiser says, "in his death the community has lost a valuable and worthy citizen."

THE Asheville Citizen says: "The apple crop in this section was never better, many trees yield from thirty to fifty bushels to the tree. Forty trees to the acre. One dollar per bushel—make your own calculation, and then say what you think of the mountain counties."

A CORRESPONDENT from Stokes county writes us that Greely and Browns section is advancing in that section, and that the Conservative majority will be considerably increased from the August election. Greely and Browns clubs are being organized in each township, and many who were lukewarm in August, and who did not go to the polls, will, in November, do their duty.

THE Richmond Dispatch of Friday has the following account of the death of the eldest son of Hon. R. R. Bridges, of this State:

"On Wednesday night Mr. Henry Bridges, eldest son of Hon. R. R. Bridges, president of the Wilmington and Weldon railroad, died on the cars at the Petersburg depot while on his way to his father's home in Wilmington. Young Mr. Bridges was in his twenty first year, and one year ago was full of hope and promise, graduating at the Virginia Military Institute with the highest honors, and receiving the commendation of General Smith as being one of the best scholars and most excellent students who had ever attended the Institute. He was elected assistant professor in one of the departments of that school. But death had marked him for its own. Disease developed itself some months since, and, despite the aid of the physicians and the mineral waters of the mountains, he continued to grow worse, until, finding that he was approaching his end, he left there on Wednesday morning in a special car in charge of his father and brother. The excitement of the trip, meeting with the prospect of so soon meeting with the loved ones at home, of whom he frequently spoke, seemed somewhat to revive him. By some unforeseen circumstance the coach in which he was traveling was detained, not reaching the city until the southern train had left. But as the invalid seemed better, it was hoped that a night's rest would do him good. But during the night he suddenly grew worse. Dr. Cunningham was immediately called in, but too late to recall the life which was fast ebbing away. Death occurred shortly after midnight. The afflicted father left on the early train yesterday to convey the sad tidings to his family. The corps was taken to Tarboro, the family burial-ground, on the 1:50 P. M. train. The bereaved family of the deceased have the sympathies of our community in this great affliction."

THE Weldon News thus alludes to the Fair of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Association, which commences at that place on the 29th inst. Says the News:

"Every day brings us some more palpable evidence of the fact that the coming Fair on the 29th is destined to be, if possible, more gratifying in its results than the last. The work of enlarging and otherwise improving the buildings, on the grounds, and the addition of others, as well as a process of beautifying the surroundings, is progressing rapidly and will be completed in ample time. The management will leave nothing undone to make it, par excellence, the Fair of the State. Mr. Jordan Stone, the Secretary, is in this section looking after the interests of the Society. Liberal arrangements for the transportation of articles for exhibition, and visitors attending the Fair, will be perfected with all railroads; and with the entries already made we can safely promise an exhibition of the best character. A good band, a popular speaker, and superior corps of managers, will alone offer a guarantee of a good time."

"We hear that the farmers, mechanics and merchants, and last, but by no means least, the ladies are even now busy preparing articles for exhibition. We should feel a just pride in the success of this enterprise, and we are sure the efforts, on the part of the people, will not be lacking to render it eminently so."

"Parties having articles to be entered can send them to R. W. Brown or B. F. Manning, at Weldon, who will see that they are properly cared for. Begin at once and let us have, as we did last year, one of the best Fairs in the State."

A Diabolical Crime.

The Philadelphia Post gives the following particulars of a desperate attempt to throw a railroad train off the track of the Pennsylvania Central railroad, which was briefly announced by telegraph. The Post says:

Tuesday morning, the Cincinnati express met with an accident a short distance this side of Garrett's siding, about twenty five miles from this city, by which two lives were lost and considerable property destroyed. The joint bolts and plate connecting the rails were removed, and the rail displaced from gauge about six inches, by some person or persons, who could only have been inspired with the most reckless wickedness.

The engine struck the displaced rail with tremendous force, hurling engine, tender and two express cars down an embankment over twenty five feet in height. The remainder of the train, with its precious freight of sleeping passengers, clung to the track and escaped destruction. But beneath the wreck the hapless engineer and fireman, S. Keller and P. Kline, were crushed to death. The murderous wretches, who accomplished their fiendish purpose, made their escape in the night. As soon as aid could be procured the track was promptly cleared, and the passengers, who had so miraculously escaped the horrors of a terrible disaster, reached the city this morning.

The conductor of the train states that he saw the "track-walker" pass about ten minutes before the accident occurred, and as the track was in its proper position at the time the latter passed the point where the train was thrown, it is apparent that the malefactor was experienced hands at their diabolical work. The most searching inquiry has failed to place suspicion upon any of the employees or others who have had connection with the road, and the matter, therefore, remains an obscure mystery. The party or parties who committed the deed took every precaution against a failure of their scheme, as they tied the wedge with rags to keep it in its proper position, and carefully covered the misplaced track with paper in order that the position of the rails would not be observed.

Philadelphia is the strong hold of Grant and Cameron, yet 15,000 German citizens of that city turned out to hear Senator Schurz speak in their own tongue on the 24th, and late as it was when he returned to his hotel that night, he was called out to address in English an audience of 20,000. Well may such uprisings fill the corruptionists with bitterness and alarm! When the people thus aroused the day of reckoning for those who have so long abused their power is not far off.

TEXAS.—A Galveston letter says:—"With a fair election in November next, Greely will carry this State by 40,000 votes. There are 130,000 voters, of whom 35,000 are negroes and say, 10,000 office-holders and white Radicals, all told, will go for Grant, leaving $5,000 for Greely."

The Farmville (Va.) Commonwealth has been sold by Mr. A. B. Venable, its editor and owner for several years past, to Mr. J. G. Gannon, of Essex county, Va., a gentleman who has had several years' experience in the editorial world.

Extensive preparations are being made by the officers of both the Petersburg and Norfolk Agricultural Associations for the exhibitions which commence in those places on the 22nd inst.

Hon. James Knox, of Knoxville, Ill., has given $10,000 in Hamilton College for the endowment of a hall of natural history.
